“ Claire was my friend.. She was calming and comforting just to be around. When the pups (her pups) would get a bit rowdy.. She would just move away quietly. She would eventually get "enough" and settle them down! I am so thankful for an unplanned trip to a private beach we took a few months back. We ended up in a roadside motel, Amy and I weren't sure about it but as usual.. We ended up laughing until we cried.. Literally.. Then went to the beach that next morning early. Claire ran and played and chased birds, went into the water and barked. I remember thinking she had the same amount of energy as her pups... Just saved it for something worth spending it on. She was loved so dearly by her Mama.. And she knew it. Claire rode many miles in Amy's lap "resting" on her arm and looking calmly out the window. She would also ride tirelessly in her crate. Claire was a very fortunate girl I must add to have had the life that she had. Every day was an adventure. I have thought and thought about her since I heard of her passing. It doesn't seem real even though I know it is. I will never forget her.. She was as special as one of my own. Claire I cannot imagine the void that must be in your home.. I feel it from here. I will always love the memories I have of you and you will be missed. RIP sweet Claire.
