“ My 'lilah bug'. You are loved so much. NO ONE will Ever fathom how much you mean to me. You were so sassy, yet so compassionate. You were so innocent and loyal and you loved so much to be my sidekick. You were my very best friend. My true friend.

Delilah barked when I needed someone to argue with. She cried when I cried. She was the cuddle when I needed a shoulder. The kisses when I needed a giggle and the ears when I needed to rant. I will never ever understand why God took such a wonderful thing from me. Especially after all the saving she done for me.

My family say she was the calm to my storm. I say She was the apple of my eye and the good to my soul.

Delilah loved being outside. She loved running like a banjee and looked just like taz mania devil boumcimg off the walls. She enjoyed being at the lake and riding on the boat and floating on a blowup float with her mommy.

Delilah loved ribs and popcorn. Yet she was afraid of ice in her water.

She enjoyed night riding with the window down or on the golf cart with the wind in her hair.

Delilah loved playing fetch or with any toys she could sgred or bounce. She loved bouncing tennis balls and stuffed animal chipmunks and ducks.

Delilah is missed so much and was definitely my spoiled rotten baby. I will always cherish all our moments together- good and bad.
