

Diamond Gurian

May 26, 2020

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

“ 1 file added to the album Forever in our hearts

Jon Eric Gurian - July 01, 2020 at 02:33 PM

It took me over a month to put this together and still I don't feel it's good enough for my big girl.

Jon Eric Gurian - July 03, 2020 at 06:33 AM

I had a dream this morning that I woke from in tears. I had opened the garage door and saw you sitting on the neighbors lawn. I called to you and you came running over . You rested your head into my legs huffing and puffing as you panted away. You motioned with your head that you wanted to go in the house. I felt horrible and woke crying. All day I have been feeling a need for closure. Beulah is finally acting normal and looking for you when she goes down stairs. Josh still cries when talking about you. The memories with us are beginning to turn from grief to happy loving fond moments that will forever be with us. I also know you have been with us visiting as the glass side table I use and always felt you would break by accident like a bull in a china shop....well no one was downstairs and we heard a crash. The table broke and I knew it was you. I woke today feeling like I did the night you left us and crossed. I felt helpless and like I needed to do more In the dream I could not allow you to come in and that night I could do nothing to help you. I know you went in the best possible way. You we're surrounded by love and like your big brother Julius went without us having to decide what to do. It's never easy to say goodbye for now as I know we will meet again. That greeting I got from you in my dream was the most welcoming and I felt your love and can't wait to feel it again. I'm sorry I could not let you in the dream in as I don't know how either of the.would have reacted. We love you and miss you. I hope the next visit for me can be joyful as you were pure sunshine when you were here with us. No more tears I hope.

Jon Eric Gurian - July 06, 2020 at 12:22 AM