

Jubilee Blunt

November 14, 2025

My sweetest and silliest girl, the goofiest of goobers... She loved hiking adventures almost as much as she loved peanut butter or whipped cream. Blanket thief, and stealer of hearts.

I brought her home the weekend of Valentine's Day in 2016, and she taught me to be braver for myself, for her, and for others... She was my emotional support, who would lick the tears off of my cheeks when I was sad.

I miss waking up to see her face on the pillow next to mine. I hope that across the Rainbow Bridge, she has plenty of soft blankets, pup cups, and all the plushies she can dismember - and that her next life can be full of even more snuggles than we had together (which were a lot).

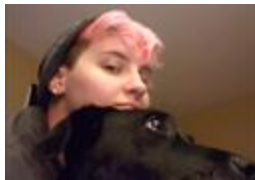

Thank you to the team at Animal Care Clinic for taking care of her with me for the last 9 years, and Family Pet Loss for the precious care you give to pet families.

Tribute Wall

JA

“ Hey sweet little girl. I only got to see you for a couple weeks in my visit, but you never left my side while I was there. Between you begging me for the frozen treats I made for you, cuddling me at night, or laying in my lap drunk when you accidentally drank alcohol 🍷💖

I can't thank you enough for taking care of your dad as much as you have. Keeping him company and loving him unconditionally through the hard times these past 9 years. I'll miss your tippy taps and jubi asmr in the mic. I hope you are living on with all the frozen treats your tummy can handle, happy hikes, and all the stuffies in the world to shred! May you forever light the sky for your human.

Jace - December 05, 2025 at 03:58 PM

MB

“ Not long after we moved into our new home last year, she managed to escape the backyard through the gate after a storm blew it open... It was still storming, and she wasn't familiar with the neighborhood yet, so she wandered several blocks confused, scared, and wet, before a kind neighbor saw her and took her in so that she wouldn't be in harm's way and hopefully find the owner. The next morning, my partner sends me a picture while walking her back on her lead, happy to be on her way home to see me.

Mani Blunt - December 05, 2025 at 03:45 PM

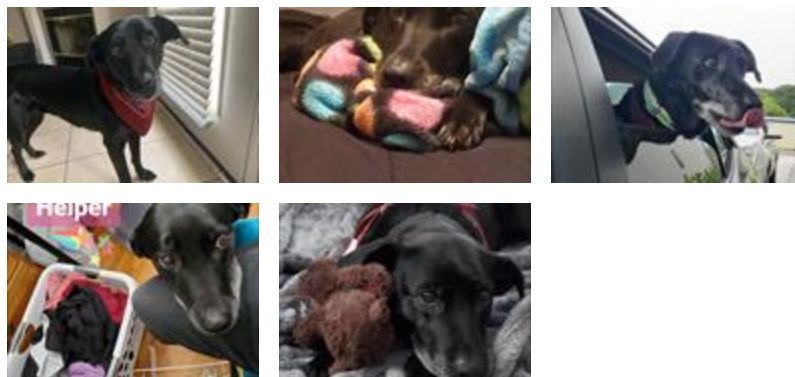

MB

“ My sweetest and silliest girl, the goofiest of goobers... She loved hiking adventures almost as much as she loved peanut butter or whipped cream. Blanket thief, and stealer of hearts.

I brought her home the weekend of Valentine's Day in 2016, and she taught me to be braver for myself, for her, and for others... She was my emotional support, who would lick the tears off of my cheeks when I was sad.

I miss waking up to see her face on the pillow next to mine. I hope that across the Rainbow Bridge, she has plenty of soft blankets, pup cups, and all the plushies she can dismember - and that her next life can be full of even more snuggles than we had together (which were a lot).

Thank you to the team at Animal Care Clinic for taking care of her with me for the last 9 years, and Family Pet Loss for the precious care you give to pet families.

Mani Blunt - December 05, 2025 at 03:33 PM