

Misty Marsh

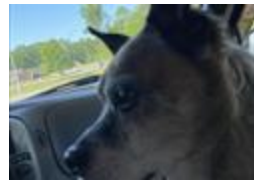

October 1, 2024

Most of the time we choose our fur babies, but Misty chose her “daddy”. Our granddaughter, Shelby, brought Misty home from people that didn’t love her so much, and as much as Shelby loved her, Misty found her forever person with my husband, Curtis. She would show up at his shop every chance she got, but he would tell her to “go home, you’re too ugly”. He nicknamed her Ugg. But she wouldn’t go home and soon worked her way into his heart. As much as Shelby loved her, she loved her Poppa enough to give him the companion he very much needed. Thank you Shelby! For many years Ugg was his constant companion, riding the roads, hanging around his shop, or sleeping beside him, she was always happiest being close to him. Now Misty has crossed that Rainbow Bridge where she waits for the day her family will cross over to be reunited with her, oh, what a wonderful reunion that will be!!! But for now we will just hold her memory close to our hearts.

Tribute Wall

“ Most of the time we choose our fur babies, but Misty chose her “daddy”. Our granddaughter, Shelby, brought Misty home from people that didn’t love her so much, and as much as Shelby loved her, Misty found her forever person with my husband, Curtis. She would show up at his shop every chance she got, but he would tell her to “go home, you’re too ugly”. He nicknamed her Ugg. But she wouldn’t go home and soon worked her way into his heart. As much as Shelby loved her, she loved her Poppa enough to give him the companion he very much needed. Thank you Shelby! For many years Ugg was his constant companion, riding the roads, hanging around his shop, or sleeping beside him, she was always happiest being close to him. Now Misty has crossed that Rainbow Bridge where she waits for the day her family will cross over to be reunited with her, oh, what a wonderful reunion that will be!!! But for now we will just hold her memory close to our hearts.

Marie Marsh - October 17, 2024 at 08:48 PM