

Oscar McGrath

May 24, 2021

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

GM

“ Oscar 🐾🐾

Just cracked open the peel of a banana and he darted upstairs from Janes. He was obsessed.

Chasing a tiny poisonous scorpion around the living room in Phoenix.

Eating all of the hotdog buns out of the tiniest gap.

Woke dad up from his sleep and he said to put Oscar on the barbecue and I cried because I was scared he was being weird.

Putting his paw up Dee dees bum and she pulled her lip back like he had offended her.

Finally looked at the lens of the camera when I took a selfie and when I took it, licked me in the mouth.

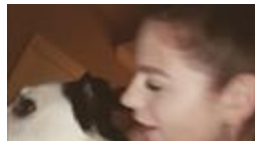

I was asleep in my room in Phoenix and Sherry woke me up screaming Sxxt because she thought the washing machine had leaked but it was oscars pee.

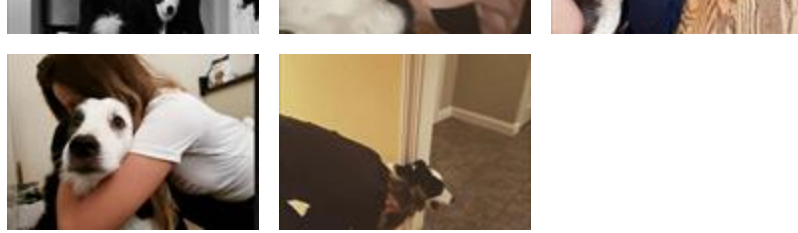

How we used to say OOOOTTTTHHHHCAR.

When that landscaper said what's his name Oshka? Taking the mic out of my accent.

His long fluffy paws.

I miss you Oscar, so so so much. Thank you for being my dads best friend and for being the best being to be greeted by after long flights and emotional journeys. I love you.

Gem McGrath - June 03, 2021 at 05:33 PM