“ We got Pepper when my son was 2 and while my husband was on deployment with the Navy. We chose him when he was born around December of 2007. We were actually able to bring him home with us after my husband returned home and we returned to visit family in May 2008. He has been through every move, every change, every life event with us. He didn't mind being dog sat by my mom, but when it was time to go home, you didn't have to tell him, he would run out the door, past everyone and straight into the car. He was my favorite dog and was a part of everything with us. I would always sneak him scraps of chicken and bacon. He always curled up in blankets the kids would leave around. He would never stray from the house when let outside. He always stayed very close and as soon as you called him he would come running. He would not let you leave him. He was the happiest dog and loved us so much.
