“ This was the hardest loss I’ve been through as a mom... I never realized how much she was like a child to me, until I payed there with her and watched her leave me. My heart will never be the same. I’m holding onto her sister just a little bit tighter these days... I miss her sweet soul. The way she loved. The excitement she had every time she saw any of us. She was such a strong part of our family. We will always feel a void. I miss her goofy little hyper self so much it hurts.
