

Tigger Estes

October 5, 2023

Me and my wife Patty were lucky enough to take care of a really good cat we named Tigger. He was a little cat but he didn't know that, lol. Patty and me use to laugh so hard when Tigger would kick the air with both feet at the same time. We're both going to miss him so so much.

I found Tigger outside a business here in Jasper Alabama on a cold morning. He was sitting beside the door to go in looking up at everybody as they go in where it's warm. I could tell he wanted to go in because it was cold and as I got closer I saw he was injured. This business was busy and there was a line so I kept my eye on him my whole way up to the door. I got almost to the door and I saw the cut on his head and his tail was bleeding and that's when I knew his days of being without would end this morning. When I got to him I reached down to pet him, he jumped around like a bucking bull and I wondered if it was his first time being petted. So I picked him up and took and put him in my truck where he jumped in the passenger seat and laid down and he rode all the way home like that. The vet the next day said he was probably hit by a car or possibly a fan blade from a car motor. He also had to have a 1/4" piece of his tail removed because it was cut also in the incident. as much as me. Tigger was my buddy and he lived 16 years and having him put to sleep was by far the hardest thing I have EVER done. He was scared because I was scared. He went to sleep in my arms looking at me where I hope and pray he found comfort one last time. My life will never be the same without him. I love and miss you buddy.

Mike Estes

Jasper, Alabama

Tribute Wall

“ 2 files added to the album Memories Album

Family Pet Cremation of Alabama, Inc. - October 27, 2023 at 11:12 AM

ME

“ I found Tigger outside a business here in Jasper Alabama on a cold morning. He was sitting beside the door to go in looking up at everybody as they go in where it's warm. I could tell he wanted to go in because it was cold and as I got closer I saw he was injured. This business was busy and there was a line so I kept my eye on him my whole way up to the door. I got almost to the door and I saw the cut on his head and his tail was bleeding and that's when I knew his days of being without would end this morning. When I got to him I reached down to pet him, he jumped around like a bucking bull and I wondered if it was his first time being petted. So I picked him up and took and put him in my truck where he jumped in the passenger seat and laid down and he rode all the way home like that. The vet the next day said he was probably hit by a car or possibly a fan blade from a car motor. He also had to have a 1/4" piece of his tail removed because it was cut also in the incident. Tigger was my buddy and he lived 16 years and having him put to sleep was by far the hardest thing I have EVER done. He was scared because I was scared. He went to sleep in my arms looking at me where I hope and pray he found comfort one last time. My life will never be the same without him. I love and miss you buddy.

*Mike Estes
Jasper, Alabama*

Mike Estes - October 18, 2023 at 10:12 AM