

Truman Long

July 31, 2025

Truman (named for the mascot of the University of Missouri) was a small dog, but had more character in his body than most dogs 10 times his size. We came to live with us when he was just three months old, shortly after we moved into our new house.

He quickly took to his “big brother,” our lab-mix Semo, and the two of them were inseparable, usually plotting ways to sneak food out of the pantry or off someone’s plate.

We used to joke that we was part parrot, as he would beg to get in your lap, then immediately climb up to sit on the back of your chair with a paw resting on your shoulder.

As soon as the Christmas tree went up each year, he carved out a space for himself under it, and quickly ran over to defend it whenever our cat decided to nap there.

He knew dinner time was a 5:00pm sharp, and would come get us if we were even a minute late.

For 11 years he traveled with us, entertained us, and loved us as much as we loved him. Now he is reunited with Semo, and the house just doesn’t seem the same without him.

We will always miss and remember Truman.

Tribute Wall

“ 11 files added to the tribute wall

Todd Long - September 07, 2025 at 09:20 PM

“ Truman (named for the mascot of the University of Missouri) was a small dog, but had more character in his body than most dogs 10 times his size. We came to live with us when he was just three months old, shortly after we moved into our new house.

He quickly took to his “big brother,” our lab-mix Semo, and the two of them were inseparable, usually plotting ways to sneak food out of the pantry or off someone’s plate.

We used to joke that we was part parrot, as he would beg to get in your lap, then immediately climb up to sit on the back of your chair with a paw resting on your shoulder.

As soon as the Christmas tree went up each year, he carved out a space for himself under it, and quickly ran over to defend it whenever our cat decided to nap there.

He knew dinner time was a 5:00pm sharp, and would come get us if we were even a minute late.

For 11 years he traveled with us, entertained us, and loved us as much as we loved him. Now he is reunited with Semo, and the house just doesn’t seem the same without him.

We will always miss and remember Truman.

Todd Long - September 07, 2025 at 09:14 PM