“ *When Winn Dixie was about a year old, a lunar moth had found it's way into my house. It was about the size of a bird and kept dive-bombing at me. I kept watching it and was trying to get away and tripped over a footstool. When I got straightened up, I looked at Winn Dixie and she had the lunar moth in her mouth!
Good Girl!!*

It's been just over three weeks since you've crossed that rainbow bridge yet the pain is still so fresh. I never thought one little dog could make such a big impact on so many lives. You filled our world with so much joy my girl. I sometimes regretted teaching you to "speak" but would give anything to hear your voice again. You will always be my Sister, my Winn Dixie.
